Refugees go south

Originally coming here from South Vietnam, two refugees now will try to find a haven in the South part of the United States.

Yuan Van Tuyen, 30, and Nguyen Thi Khue Dung, 25, left Madison on Saturday for Tulsa, Okla. The latter's parents, who also escaped from the communist conquest of South Vietnam, have been staying with friends in Tulsa.

Tuyen sought work as an electrician here on residential-commercial construction work but was discharged after doubts about the extent of his skill arose, and after several women complained to the contractor that he should fill jobs with Americans.

The man was a lieutenant in the South Vietnamese army. The woman, called "June," is a pharmacist.

Tuyen voiced sadness at the departure but said he was afraid to find work on his own.

The family with whom the two had found a temporary home described the refugees as discouraged and convinced that they were not wanted in the Quad-Cities.

Science find by Granite Cityon

SERGEANT FIRST CLASS ROBERT L. MOORE. His scientific find in the field of gravity waves is receiving widespread recognition.

Sergeant First Class Robert L. Moore, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Sue Moore Lewis, 2628 Sheridan Ave., Granite City, is being credited with a scientific breakthrough in the verification and monitoring of gravity waves.

Currently assigned to the Meteorological Satellite Technical Area (MSTA) of the Atmospheric Sciences Laboratory, he is based at the Electronics Command, White Sands Missile Range, in New Mexico.

"Most people work a lifetime in their profession without contributing to its advancement other than their day-to-day achievements. Then someone, like Sergeant Moore comes along and, seemingly overnight, makes an important discovery that turns a theory into a fact and advances his profession greatly," a spokesman at White Sands told the Press-Record.

Sgt. Moore, a professional meteorologist, is soon to take over duties as senior meteorologist at Fort Greeley, Alaska.

Of his 12 years of career service with the U. S. Army, Moore has spent a total of 10 years at the White Sands Missile Range, advancing in rank and technical knowledge.

In his work at MSTA, Moore's skills have been directed toward interpreting the multitude of photographs taken each day by the several meteorological satellites now circling the earth.

The latest of these, in stationary orbit 22,300 miles above the earth's equator, was launched only a few weeks ago.

It was the satellite's ability to provide photographic coverage of the earth that brought Army-wide recognition to Moore's ability in his unique profession.

The satellites transmit still photographs every half hour, thus limiting the total number of daylight photographs.

Using the Hollywood technique of reproducing the assembly of still photographs, in the order in which they were received, meteorologists can observe the cloud cover in motion.

These assembled motion clips provide an almost continuous first-hand look at the earth's weather phenomenon as it pertains to the Western Hemisphere.

It was during the study of one of these clips, in 1972, that the local sergeant first noticed shadowy lines moving across the screen.

At first, Moore thought the shadow was caused by faulty film. But other film clips had similar shadowy movements, and still others had none.

Faulty film was ruled out. Then, recalling published theories concerning the existence of gravity waves in connection with a severe storm phenomenon, he made a closer study of the pictures.

In several cases, the shadowy movements correlated to storm activity, sometimes, actually appearing to originate in one storm and branching out to create even worse storms.

3 traffic deaths

2 Madisonians die

Two Madison men are dead and three other persons are hospitalized in serious condition as the result of a three-car accident at 10:15 p.m. Friday on Route 200 near Bond Road.

Dead are Jimmie Glen Moran, 24, of 2120 Hildebrand St., and Gregory Paul Vancil, 21, of 34 Grenzer Homes.

Both men were taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital here and then transferred to Firms Desloge Hospital, St. Louis, where Moran died at 2:10 a.m. Saturday, of severe head and facial injuries.

Vancil, a passenger in the Moran auto, died at 4:15 p.m. Saturday, of severe head injuries and multiple cuts to the face and body.

Randy Vancil is reported in serious condition at Firms Desloge with severe head injuries and multiple cuts to the face and body, and Teller is at John Cochran Veterans Hospital where he was to undergo surgery today for facial fractures.

John C. Juells, 22, of East St. Louis, a passenger in another vehicle involved, is in serious condition at Firms Desloge Hospital suffering severe injuries to his eyes and cuts to the scalp.

The driver of a third car, Billy J. Delevour, 37, of 2208 Cardinal St., Granite City, escaped injury.

A Madison County sheriff's spokesman said details of the accident still are uncertain, but preliminary investigation indicated a vehicle southbound on Route 200, occupied by Jean Juells and an unidentified man, struck the median, striking Delevour's auto and then

Seek delay of plan to treat alcoholics

On July 1 the Illinois Alcoholic and Intoxicant Treatment Act (PA 28-1270) is scheduled to become effective, but many hospitals in this region say they cannot be ready to comply with it that soon. The Illinois Hospital Association, which represents close to 300 hospitals across the state, is strongly supporting two bills currently before the Illinois General Assembly to extend the date of implementation. The two bills are H-1479, sponsored by Rep. John S. Matyskevich (D-North Chicago), which extends the effective date to Jan. 1, 1976, and S-822, sponsored by Sen. Daniel Dougherty (D-Chicago), which extends the date to July 1, 1976.

The Act redefines alcoholism as a disease and mandates that publicly intoxicated persons must be afforded non-discriminatory medical treatment.

In order to give hospitals, other health organizations, law enforcement agencies and the courts adequate time to prepare for this additional service, the IHA favors extension of the effective date of implementation.

"For the last several years, the Hospital Association has supported the concept that public intoxication is not a criminal offense," Kenneth Lund, Ph.D., says. He is chairman of the IHA Council on Professional Affairs and vice president for education at Lutheran General Hospital in Park Ridge.

"IHA is committed to working with the Illinois Department of Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities to ease implementation of this Act," Dr. Lund said, "but hospitals especially must have

Hooks to repay early aid to him

Thomas Hooks of Venice told the Press-Record Sunday that as soon as his case is settled and he receives the money awarded him, he wants to repay the Venice Lions and the Explorers for funds they raised to help him after his accident.

A diving mishap at 1:30 p.m. Friday, June 4, 1971, in Washington D. C., deprived the young man of the use of both arms and both legs for the rest of his life.

AU S. District Court jury last week awarded $7 million to Hooks in a landmark decision in personal injury negligence cases. It is estimated that it could be at least two years before Hooks receives any of the settlement, due to appeals.

To aid the youth and his family, the Venice Lions Club planned one of the largest public barbecues ever held in this area on Aug. 21 and 22, 1971.

Nearly 15,000 barbecue pork steak sandwiches were sold and a check for $4,800 was given to the family.

Charles Simmons was general chairman of the event, and the committee included the late Dr. John E. Lee, plus Father Terry Shea, Donald Phillips, William M. Ebersold.

City code revision

A move to coordinate and index all existing city ordinances was finalized by the Granite City Council last week in the award of a contract to Seattle, Wash., firm for the work necessary to update the municipal code.

The council also enacted an ordinance that will be requiring all utilities to give the city 30 days advance notice of plans to make excavations in city streets or easements to lay new lines, replace present lines or cables or to make repairs.

The contract for revising the City Code went to the Book Publishing Co. of Seattle on the lowest of three bids at $11 per page for revision of the city's ordinance records. Gerald Parmenter, chairman of the Finance Committee, said the total cost will approximate $6,000.

Other bidders were the Municipal Code Corp. of Tallahassee, Fla., at $16 per page, or approximately $8,600, and W. H. Anderson Co. of Cincinnati, Ohio, at $12 per page or approximately $6,500.

The aldermen were told the work will include a complete recodifying of all city ordinances which will be written to include amendments passed during recent years. The works will be indexed and the city code otherwise updated to provide easy access to all city laws and amendments.

The ordinance requiring 30 days notice for street openings by utilities was requested earlier by aldermen who

Humanities grants 'breaking barriers'

Eleven awards totaling $103,000 are being announced by the Illinois Humanities Council. They will go to organizations or agencies in eight communities, according to Marvin L. Vawter, executive director; $27,302 is for this area.

The 11 new grants are the first in the council's second year of operation. They support public programs in the humanities.

Each program focuses on contemporary issues of concern to citizens of the region where it will be held. The Illinois Humanities Council's theme, "Breaking Barriers: Individual and Governmental Responsibility," is used as a point of departure.

A total of $11,480 will go to Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville for a series of 24 weekly meetings with senior citizens on "The revolution: Old and New — A dialogue with Senior Citizens." The participants reflect on "basic concepts still visible in the changing American scene of their experience," and forecast ways these concepts will fare in the future.

Station KETC-TV Channel 9, will receive $15,525 for a project entitled, "East Side Story: Human Values and Institutions in Conflict." The three one-hour taped TV programs will concern barriers between citizens from varying backgrounds on the Illinois side of the Mississippi River opposite St. Louis.

$132,785 grant for GC schools

The Illinois Capital Development Board has approved an application of the Granite City Board of Education for a debt service grant of $132,785. School Board members were informed in a meeting by Tully Heubner, director of business affairs.

Dale C. Rea, assistant to the superintendent, reported reimbursement claims for $5,328 for Title II and $14,781 for Title III for the school year 1972-73, which were impounded at that time and released last year, are now available to the district after documentations and claims are filed by the board. Approval was granted during the meeting.

In addition to this revenue, the summer school low incidence program, Title VI, also will be aided through the Southwest Illinois Regional Special Education Association, which has a surplus in its grant this year.

The teachers will have to be employed by the administrative district of the grant, which is Harmony School District 175, Belleville, at GC District 9 summer rates for $1,050 and assigned to the District 9 summer session.

Students presently in the program also would involve students from Madison and Venice.

Approval was granted by the board to use rooms at Emerson and Lake Schools involving teachers Karen Rose, William Novinger and Joan Shaffner. In addition to paying for the three teachers, the program will have enough money to provide for two aides for the summer session for the multiply handicapped classes at Lake.

The board also agreed to use the YMCA swimming pool for the special education summer school program at an estimated cost of $25. Students will use the facility from 8 to 8:45 a.m.

Monday through Friday.

A special lift van to transport the multiply handicapped pupils to Lake School for the summer program at a cost of $544 also was approved by the board.

Vasil Eftimoff, pupil personnel services, reviewed the Drug Abuse Prevention program sponsored by the Madison County Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependency, which involved four counselors and a limited number of students during the past year.

"We have had great success within the participating school buildings this past year, based upon the opinions of the counselors, Eftimoff added.

His request to apply for a grant to continue the expansion of training personnel to 15 additional professionals (five counselors and 10 classroom teachers) with 1,500 students participating during the July 1975 to June 1976 year was approved by the board.

The total cost of the program has been set at $63,750 with $29,300 realized from the grant and the remaining $34,450 is in-kind services of teachers salaries and use of facilities.

Next census to spotlight full count, use of energy

Recommendations for changes in the federal census of population and housing have been developed as a result of a public meeting held in St. Louis, sponsored by the U.S. Department of Commerce and the St. Louis Chapter of the American Statistical Association.

Jane Allen, assistant director of the Center for Urban and Environmental Research and Services at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, served as chairman of the organizing committee for the census conference.

She said the Census Bureau conducts meetings throughout the country to advance in each decennial census to determine existing problems for local users and to convey government plans for the next census.

Representatives of state, regional and federal agencies, as well as leaders in business and industry from the community in this region, attended the meeting.

Conference suggestions and the results of a questionnaire distributed to registrants have been compiled into a manual prepared for consideration by the Census Bureau for the 1980 census.

Mrs. Allen said much of the public discussion centered on "the problems of the 'universe'—people who, for one reason or another, were not included in the 1970 tally."

"Since much federal and state money is distributed on the basis of the number of persons in an area, and since throughout the decade following a census, revenue-sharing funds are based upon some modification of the census figures, such concerns are of great importance for planning and for the provision of services," Mrs. Allen said.

She indicated that attempts to improve the level of completeness are ongoing at the Census Bureau, and that community agencies will be used to aid area residents in understanding the importance of being included.

Another concern expressed by many of the 300 registrants centered on the need for making different geographic groupings of census information," Mrs. Allen reported.

Many community agencies depend on census data to plan programs and to solicit funds. The ability to take information for areas as small as city blocks, and to combine these into new units such as a neighborhood, is an important function the bureau is now considering ways to improve the information for small areas.

Another concern expressed by many of the 300 registrants centered on the need for making different geographic groupings of census information," Mrs. Allen reported.

New buses, Home interest rate ceiling is extended passenger shelters

A check for $9,097,956 received by the Bi-State Development Agency from the Urban Mass Transportation Administration is part of the federal government's portion of a $15.5-million capital improvement grant for the Transit Division.

The project includes purchase of 240 new buses equipped with two-way radios and the latest pollution-control devices, service vehicles, 100 new passenger shelters, and many other service and equipment improvements.

"This check," Robert J. Baer, executive director of the Bi-State Development Agency, said, "represents the federal share for purchase of 200 of the 240 new buses now on order."

The local share of $3,258,000 is being funded by $2,558,000 in Missouri transportation sales tax proceeds and a $800,000 grant by the state of Illinois.

An additional $1,800,000 of federal money is earmarked for the remaining 40 buses. All of the federal bus money should be in hand at Bi-State by June 30.

"The grant," Baer added, "is the initial phase of the proposed capital improvement program scheduled for the next five years."

A portion of the federal funding is from a new program under which federal highway funds may be used for mass transit projects. The first in the nation under the new program, the grant is one of only two funded thus far.

The home interest rate ceiling was extended at its current 9 1/2 per cent rate in a 44-7 vote Thursday by the State Senate. The bill, originated in the House and passed there 120-25, now goes to the governor, who said Friday he will sign it.

The measure extends for 18 months the highest rate which lending institutions may charge for home mortgage loans in the state.

The interest otherwise would have returned July 1 to its former 8 per cent rate, where it stood last summer before a one-year temporary extension at the higher level.

The Senate sponsor of the bill, Sen. Sam M. Vadalabene, Democrat of Edwardsville, called the passage "crucial to the entire economy" of Illinois.

"We've had plenty of experience here in Illinois with low salary ceilings," the senator said, "and they have led to credit crunches and housing disasters in every instance."

When the ceiling was raised from 8 to 9 1/2 per cent last year, "Illinois began to regain some of the ground it had lost in single family home starts," he commented.

"Housing permits were increased, construction employment went up, and the resale of older homes improved," he said.

Vadalabene said the 9 1/2 per cent extension "did succeed in keeping them working and allowing consumers to purchase homes."

In the floor debate, Vadalabene also noted that "no one likes high interest rates, but we must remember we are in a state of economic inflation."

"High interest rates don't cause inflation. It is inflation that causes high interest rates," he said.

Lending institutions compete with the federal government in obtaining money for home mortgages, he said.

Calling the federal government the "largest single borrower in today's economy," Vadalabene said competition exists for funds in treasury bills, tax free bonds, government bonds and large commercial bank certificates of deposit.

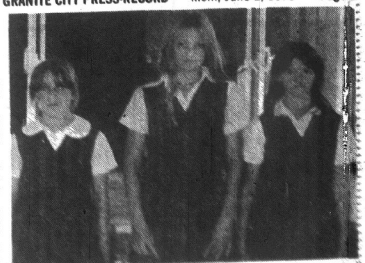

"Thrift institutions cannot pay the return on savings that people expect when they cannot receive a fair return on the money they lend," Vadalabene said.

Savings and loan associations, the major lenders in home mortgages, have contended they cannot make loans at eight per cent and still receive a sufficient margin to pay on the cost of savings.

They indicated that if the bill had not passed, instead of lower interest rates on home loans, no loans could have been made at all.

One supporter of the bill noted that lenders are now paying from 8 1/2 to 9 1/2 per cent for funds they borrow from the Federal Home Loan Bank.

Supporters indicated that, with the uncertain national money market, the 9 1/2 per cent ceiling gives some leeway for lenders and borrowers.

ESSAY CONTESTANTS who competed in the "Safety on the Highways" contest sponsored by the Women's Safety Committee of the Madison County School. ## Norman Kinder heads Kiwanis

Norman Kinder, a local attorney, was re-elected president of the Kiwanis Club of Granite City, Ill., Thursday morning in Charlie's Restaurant.

Elected to serve with Kinder were Robert Chubb, first vice president; Dr. Thomas Laybolt, Jr., second vice president; Jack Mulvihill, secretary; and Louis Bunch, treasurer.

Stuart Mills, supervisor of special education at District High School, and Lucille Chubb, a learning disabilities teacher, spoke to the club.

Supervisor Mills explained the key areas to observe that depict a child with learning disabilities, such as motor coordination problems, hyperactivity, perception problems, auditory problems, poor personal relationship problems, negative and emotional child.

It was emphasized that there is no one way to classify a child with learning disabilities as it covers a combination of many varied aspects.

Children with problems, about 200 in the Granite City School District, have individual educational plans formulated for them.

The plan includes a general goal statement, specific behavioral objectives, dates for approximate completion of the objectives and a section for judging the final performance of the child, the speakers said.

In our own community, with the big interest in soccer, we are in need of volunteers as coaches and managers of soccer teams.

The primary prerequisite is that a person is interested in the growth of children and enjoys being with them.

"It's easy to become a YMCA volunteer. Just call the Y at 808-2200 or stop by 301 Edison Ave."

Port development plan to be ready next May

An unprecedented $85,500 grant that may lead to improved river port operations in the St. Louis region has been given to the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council by the U.S. Maritime Administration.

The grant, the first ever given by the Maritime Administration for extensive work on an inland port, was announced Thursday afternoon by Lawrence K. Ross, chairman of East-West Gateway, and Mrs. Leonor K. Sullivan, U.S. representative from the Third Congressional District in St. Louis and chairwoman of the House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee.

The $85,500 grant will be used to pay part of the costs of a port development project being conducted by East-West Gateway.

It will be used primarily to determine the effect of river level fluctuations on the development and operation of inland river ports.

Also is expected to produce information about the St. Louis port's facilities and operational procedures that will be used to develop recommended improvements.

The port development project is also aimed at identifying possible industrial sites that could be put to use by companies involved in river transportation.

Ultimate purpose is to stimulate employment and business activity by making use of greater St. Louis traditional position as a dominant port on the inland waterways.

East-West Gateway's involvement in port development began in 1972 and was funded initially by contributions from a variety of public and private sources.

Its first phase ended last year with a report from the consulting firm of A. T. Kearney, Inc. on this region's existing port facilities, present and potential markets, and growth restraints.

The second phase of this effort, including the port funded by the Maritime Administration, is to involve a year of work ending in May 1976. It will produce a specific and detailed port development plan for the St. Louis region.

In addition to the $85,500 from the Maritime Administration, phase two of the Council's effort is to be funded with $55,000 from the states of Illinois and Missouri and $86,000 from the Federal Highway Administration.

Of the $155,000 in work to be performed, $80,000 is to be assigned to the Kearney firm. Another $5,000 will be the responsibility of the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission, and the balance will be handled by the East-West Gateway staff.

Heating and cooling with an Electric Heat Pump

Mr. and Mrs. Lohmar relax in the family room of their home with son, Rick, and daughter Susane.

When they built their home in 1972, Mr. and Mrs. James Lohmar of Decatur, Illinois, did a lot of advance planning. They included many modern features, including an electric heat pump.

Jim designed the comfortable four-bedroom house and acted as his own contractor. It's a happy haven for the Lohmars and their children, Rick, Susane and Tom.

The heat pump is a compact unit that heats, cools, dehumidifies and filters air in the Lohmar home. It does all this automatically, 12 months a year.

When they moved into their home, the Lohmars decided on the temperature they need and set the thermostat: the heat pump does the rest. Of course, they had provided plenty of good insulation over the ceiling, in the outside walls and beneath the floor of their house.

The heat pump is one of many types of electric heat that can be installed in new or existing homes. For complete details, ask the Energy Use Advisor at your nearest Illinois Power Company business office.

protested the fact that applications for excavation permits by the water company, phone company and power company frequently do not get to the council for approval until the excavations already have begun or, in some cases, already are completed.

Other council action last week included approval of a resolution to name a proposed new roadway from Pontoon Road to 25th Street, skirting the west side of the shopping area in the Nameoki area, as R. E. Robertson Street.

The action was taken in honor of Alderman R. E. Robertson of the Fourth Ward who has supported plans to build the proposed street would parallel the railroad tracks from Pontoon Road to 25th Street to ease traffic congestion in the Nameoki area.

Robertson was absent at Monday night's council session and is reported in Jewish Hospital, St. Louis, to undergo tests.

Sgt. Moore realized he was observing what had never been seen before.

There is only one other means by which the gravity wave phenomenon can be seen. But the animated film loop composed of a series of photographs from the weather satellites offers the best study of these strange waves that have such a strong effect on earth's weather.

"Sgt. Moore's hard work and ability proved that gravity waves exist as fact, not theory," the spokesman related today.

"The only other method through which gravity waves can be seen is by standing in the polar regions of our planet during their respective winter months." And this approach is not considered as accurate as the Moore technique.

For his discovery, Sgt. Moore is receiving worldwide recognition and the satisfaction of having furthered the field of meteorology.

He graduated from Granite City High School in 1963. He and his wife, Barbara, now reside in White Sands.

Two charged after raid

Madison Garrett, 32, of 1016 Douglas St., Venice, was charged with keeping a gambling establishment in violation of the Dram Act after a police raid at 12:20 a.m. Saturday in Brooklyn.

Leroy Pryor, 48, of 404 Weaver St., Venice, was charged with gambling along with 17 others.

Sheriff's deputies, state troopers, members of the Illinois Bureau of Investigation and investigators from the office of St. Clair County State's Attorney Robert H. Rice participated in the raid.

Raided were a shoeshine parlor behind a restaurant at 106 South Fourth St., and a room adjoining Garrett's lounge, 116 South Fourth St., both in Brooklyn.

steel producer in the St. Louis metropolitan area.

Pulianis joined National Steel in 1969 as assistant works auditor of the Midwest Steel Division. He became assistant controller at Midwest in 1965 and vice president-administration of Granite City Steel in early 1972.

Active in the Tri-Cities Area United Way since arriving in Granite City, Pulianis was chairman of the successful 1974 campaign and vice chairman and industrial division co-chairman the year before in the over-the-top 1973 drive.

He is a member of the Board of Governors of St. Elizabeth Hospital, Granite City.

A native of Trenton, N.J., Pulianis served in the Naval Air Force in World War II and graduated from Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa., in 1954 with a degree in commerce and finance.

Pulianis is married, has two children and lives at 779 Cross Creek Drive, Creve Coeur, Mo.

Phil Smith, Charles Logas and W. F. "Buck" Strange.

Other groups helping with the event included the Madison Lions, American Legion Post 123 and 400, and members of Explorer Post 10-4, with numerous civic organizations selling tickets.

"I sincerely thank the many, many people who helped with the event. There are just too many to name, and I don't want to forget to thank those who bought the tickets," Hooks said.

"I want to return the money to the Venice Lions and hope they will use it to help someone else who may be in need or have a tragedy strike."

"I also want to give back $1,000 raised by Explorers at the conference I was attending when I was hurt."

"Since there is no way I can give it to each of them personally and say thanks, I am going to make the contribution to our local Boy Scout Council for use in the Explorer division here," Hooks commented.

Hooks, 38, at the time of the accident, was an officer in Post 10-4, sponsored by the Madison Police, and was attending the first National Explorer Presidents Association Conference in Washington D. C., where he was a major contributor for president of the national association.

At the June 1971 conference, several of the Explorers were staying at the Sheraton Park Hotel and, like Hooks spent much of their free time swimming in the hotel's pool. He dove off the 8-foot high board into eight feet of water, striking his head on the bottom of the pool, breaking his neck and severely damaging his cervical cord.

Trial testimony described the board as too springy and unsafe for the depth of the pool.

The court judgment was issued against the Washington Sheraton Corp. and IFT Sheraton Corp. of America.

Hooks had to stay in a Washington hospital for 3½ months before he could be moved to the Jewish Hospital, St. Louis, where he remained for another 9½ months before going home to Venice.

He is still required to return to the Jewish Hospital for regular examinations and treatment.

THE SCHERMER BULLETIN

We are probably experiencing the worst period ever in finding real good buys for our customers. Meat items that we consider "values" are scarce and this week produce "buys" are practically non-existent.

After much deliberation we came up with today's ad. The items are good, but it required a lot of time and effort to put it together.

We didn't have room to run turkey parts in today's ad but we still feature these items at exceptionally low prices. Among some of our regular everyday specials to think about are Cornish Hens at 79¢, Cooked Fish Patties at 10¢ for $1.00 and Turkey. Ask any of our friendly meat cutters who serve you for low priced menu suggestions. We always have them.

Music Under the Stars' rehearsals June 9

The "Music Under the Stars" choral program, sponsored by the Granite City Park District, is scheduled to begin rehearsals on Monday, June 9, in the Granite City High School South vocal room.

Mrs. Mary Ann Bright, the choral director at South High, will once again conduct the chorus.

Mrs. Bright has been choral director at South High School since January of 1973. She received her undergraduate degree from the University of Alabama and is currently working on her master of music education at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Last summer was her first year with the park district's choral program.

The choruses at South High have been involved in many public appearances, concerts and contests during recent years, affording students special recognition.

The vocal music department presented the Rodgers & Hammerstein musical, "South Pacific" under the direction of Mrs. Bright, during May.

The "Music Under the Stars" program is open to anyone from 11 years old through high school age levels and adults.

Children entering grades 5 through 8 will rehearse from 1 to 2 p.m. on Monday and Thursday in the South vocal room, beginning Monday, June 9.

All high school age students, college students and adults are invited to join rehearsals on Monday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 9:30, with rehearsals starting on June 9.

There are no auditions, Mrs. Bright said. "Anyone interested in singing is welcome. In particular, we would like to have more adults participate," the director added.

BUTTERFLY CLUB HONORS MRS. HARRIET HOFF

Mrs. Harriet Hoff was honored on her birthday by members of the Butterfly Club at a gathering held last week in the home of Mrs. Katie Hommer, 2732 Michigan Ave.

Pinchile games were played during the evening and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Juanita Rosenberg, Mrs. Irene Willis, Mrs. Thelma Schmid and Mrs. Nell Talley.

A dessert luncheon was served by the hostess to those named and to Mrs. Lorraine McIlroy, Mrs. Mary Lou Clausen and Mrs. Hazel Rollins.

The chorus will present four concerts during the summer months. Performance dates and themes are as follows:

Tuesday, June 24, "The Movies"; Tuesday, July 8, "A Bicentennial Celebration"; Tuesday, July 22, "Nostalgia Night"; and Tuesday, Aug. 12, "A Salute to Broadway."

All concerts will begin at 8 p.m. at the Wilson Park ice rink. Seating is provided for the audience.

"We urge all local residents to take part in the choral program. Attendance is not taken at rehearsals so that everyone is free to give of his or her available time," Mrs. Bright said.

Participants may join at the start of the program or become active in the series at anytime during the summer months, she noted.

Brenda Pasley becomes Mrs. Donald Brian Cole

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Brian Cole, who were married May 17 at the Nameoki United Methodist Church, 1900 Pontoon Road, are now residing in Kansas City, Mo., following a wedding trip to Tan Tan-A-Resort at Osage Beach, Mo.

The bride is the former Miss Brenda Sue Pasley, a daughter of Mrs. Georgia A. Pasley and Harold Pasley, both of Granite City. The groom, who resided at 300 E. Armour Blvd., Kansas City, Mo., is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cole, 265 W. Aliso Drive, Green Valley, Ariz.

Altar bouquets of yellow and white spring flowers, branched "candelabra" holding burning tapers and white and gold bows marking the pews created the setting for the service.

The double ring ceremony was performed at 6 o'clock the evening by the Rev. William D. Fester.

The church organ played the "Wedding of the Century" and other selected hymns during the service.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride chose a gown of white organza designed with a re-embroidered lace bodice and V-neckline. The long shepherdess sleeves were caught at the wrists into wide lace cuffs.

Her slightly gathered skirt was encircled with a homeline flounce, edged with insertion lace and ribbon.

She wore a lace picture hat with a chapel length train attached, and she held a bouquet of white carnations, yellow roses, baby's breath festooned with green streamers.

Miss Elaine Koesterer, maid of honor, wore a halter style gown of mint green dotted swiss, complemented with a bolero jacket trimmed with a ruffle at the neckline.

The bridesmaid, Miss Diane Feurka, selected a long yellow frock made identically to the honor attendant's dress. Both wore picture hats and carried baskets of carnations in colors to match their gowns.

The groom chose Michael Fair as his best man, Paul Carver, a cousin of the bride, was groomsmen. Ushers included Lloyd Reynolds, the bride's cousin, Ray Carder and Danny Weaver.

Guests were greeted by the newly married Mr. and Mrs. Cole at a reception held at the Moose Hall, Mrs. Debi Weaver presided over the guest book.

Mrs. Pasley, mother of the bride, chose a long mint green dress fashioned with a V-neckline and long sleeves, accented with lace and silver accessories.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Cole, appeared in a long floral gown worn with a matching jacket and silver accessories. Both wore corsages of yellow roses and white carnations.

The bride is a Granite City High School graduate and also graduated from Memorial Hospital School of Nursing in Alton. She is now employed at Bethany Hospital, Kansas City.

A 1964 graduate of O'Fallon High School, the groom attended the Belleville Area College for one year. He also served as a medic in the U.S. Air Force and was stationed in England for four years. He is now working as a manager for Church's Fried Chicken.

Government coordinating body, former St. Louis Chamber plan joint programs

A memorandum of understanding between East West Gateway Coordinating Council and the Regional Commerce and Growth Association (RCGA) links the governmental and business group in a variety of ways.

The memorandum was endorsed at last week's meeting of the board of directors of the Gateway Council. The RCGA board had adopted the agreement April 21.

Gateway Council Board Chairman Lawrence Hesse said the purpose of the memorandum is to "promote cooperation between the two in seeking solutions to problems of the St. Louis metropolitan bi-state area."

Gateway and RCGA will work together by exchanging information, recommendations and plans, sharing resources where possible, and developing joint programs to benefit the metropolitan area.

Representatives of the boards of the two organizations will serve on each other's committees and task forces to increase awareness and communication between the policymakers of the two.

Gateway Council is an organization of elected officials from an area which includes the counties of Franklin, Jefferson, St. Charles and St. Louis and the City of St. Louis, all in Missouri, and Madison, Monroe and St. Clair counties in Illinois.

RCGA is an organization with paid memberships from the business and labor communities of the St. Louis area. It hopes to strengthen the regional economy and includes the former St. Louis Chamber of Commerce.

Gateway also has entered into cooperative agreements with the Alliance for Regional Community Health, Inc., and the Missouri Law Enforcement Assistance Council, Region 3. A spokesman said the goal is to bring closer together the responsibilities of agencies engaged in regional problem-solving.

Phone number can expedite 'regittles'

New car and truck purchasers seeking certificates of title and license plates are being requested, but not required, to submit their phone numbers on the back of the new Regittles application form, Michael J. Howlett, secretary of state, said Friday.

Regittles combines title certification and vehicle registration into a single process.

The number of forms used for different kinds of vehicles is reduced from 24 to two.

One form is for vehicles licensed by calendar year, mostly passenger cars. The other is for fiscal year registrations, mostly trucks and trailers.

"The back of the form provides space for a telephone number at which the applicant can be reached on weekday afternoons or evenings," said Howlett. "It helps solve problems of incomplete information on the application."

"It costs the taxpayers an average of $3 apiece in postage, stationery and state employee time to solve the problem of missing information by correspondence."

"It costs an average of 60 cents per problem to call the applicant during evening hours when rates are low and people are most likely to be home."

"Thousands of $3 problems have become 60-cent problems because applicants have given us their home phones. But Illinois citizens who don't want to give their phone numbers to the secretary of state are not required to."

"We will process the application, if we have the information to do it, whether the phone number is included or not," he emphasized.

Pupils at Johnson School in impaired hearing experiment

Hearing Awareness Week was observed at Johnson School in Robert Burns' fifth grade language arts class in a unique way.

The students were involved in an experiment to try to understand what it is like to be deaf.

The program began the first day with Mrs. Lois Fitter, a teacher of the hearing impaired at Johnson School, using pictorial charts of the ear and describing its function and sometimes its lack of function.

On the second day, Burns played a record of simulated hearing loss of varying degree, describing methods that the average person can use to communicate with persons with hearing loss.

The students and Burns put cotton balls in their ears on the third day and wore headphones to block out sound. 3 traffic colliding head-on with Mr. Moran's auto in the northbound lanes about 600 feet north of Bend Road.

Authorities are seeking the young man who deputies believe have been driving the southbound auto, and who fled on foot after asking Delcour to call an ambulance.

Delcour told the Press-Record the returning home from work in East St. Louis and had just passed the Moran vehicle after passing through the Route 201 and Bend Road intersection. He said that Mr. Moran's auto, a 1964 Buick, pulled into the lane behind his seconds before the accident happened.

"I never did see the other car (southbound auto) cross the median," Delcour recalls, "until it struck my car, a glancing blow just behind the drivers door."

"Then it just seemed to slide off my car and crashed head-on into the vehicle behind me. After stopping his car, Delcour said, a young man ran down toward him crying, got down on his knees and begged, 'Please call an ambulance.'"

A passerby responded to the man's request and Delcour went with the unidentified man to the southbound auto where they saw a woman, later identified as Mrs. Juelia, pinned in the wreckage.

The Madison Fire Department responded to a call that several persons were trapped in the wrecks.

Delcour said the southbound vehicle was the only one that touched his car and that the Moran vehicle "never did touch mine." He said another car, directly in front of his, narrowly escaped being involved.

A relative of Mr. Moran told the Press-Record the four young persons were returning home from the auto races at St. Louis International Raceway, south of Madison, when the accident occurred.

A Vietnam war veteran, Mr. Moran was discharged April 1 from the U. S. Army Reserve as a Specialist Fifth Class. He served two campaigns in Vietnam, 1969-70 and 1971-72, with a motor transport unit and received the Republic of Vietnam campaign medal, a Vietnam service medal, and a national defense service medal.

Mr. Moran, born in Granite City and a lifelong resident,

Strangely enough, the leaping winner has the same initials as the president of the university, Dr. John S. Rendleman.

Man flees with wallet, $330

Granite City authorities are seeking a man who allegedly snatched a wallet containing about $330 in cash from an employee of the Madison County Mental Health Clinic, 2640 State St., at 1:30 p.m. Friday after he reportedly attempted to solicit funds from her, posing as a Sickel's Annual drive worker.

The woman employee said the man had been in the office several times prior to returning with a cup in his hand seeking donations. She said she left the office for a moment and returned as the man was running away with her red wallet in his hand.

Several people in the office reportedly chased the thief who fled in a Chevrolet Impala on 21st Street toward Edwardsville Road. The man is described as being tall and in his 20's.

Separation needed — will South forego its hold on SIUE?

Possession is said to be nine-tenths of the law, and this community for some reason has historically had difficulty freeing itself from the all-encompassing clutches of certain large governmental jurisdictions. The latest example is in the university field.

An obvious example of suffocating possessiveness is the as yet unsuccessful struggle to separate the Quad-Cities from the remainder of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District. The financially-depressed East St. Louis area, it seems, has confused the already-overburdened Quad-City property tax base with the city of Washington. It has concluded that it needs neighboring cities' aid as well as state and federal funding, and is not going to give it up without a fight.

Many residents recall how tough it was to get clear of the judicial circuit headquartered in St. Clair County. There was a vast legion of coaxes and a clear inability to serve such a large population. But it was politically attractive to some to dominate the judge election and selection process, and a mighty battle had to be waged before separate Third and 20th circuits could be established.

Plan for Cahokia Mounds visitor center, Horseshoe Lake

Illinois House and Senate appropriations committees can perform a valuable service to this region if they develop and actively support legislation proposed by State Rep. Monroe Flinn, Cahokia Democrat.

The $15 million plan would include the proposed $5 million visitors' and research center at Cahokia Mounds State Park, plus opening the new Horseshoe Lake State Park here and improving lakes at Frank Holt State Park.

At Rep. Flinn's request, Illinois Conservation Department Director Anthony Doan has agreed to present the requests to the committees. The 70,000 to 100,000-square-foot center would include artifact display areas, auditoriums and a laboratory suitable for study of ancient hunting, agriculture and urban life.

These enthusiastic about the plan besides Flinn and Doan include Charles Tamminga, superintendent of the department's Division of Historical Sites and Interpretation Programs; James Anderson, curator of the Cahokia Mounds Museum;

Nelson A. Reed, area archeologist long active in exploration of prehistoric American Indian sites at the Cahokia Mounds State Park; and many thousands of citizens interested in assuring preservation and study of the Indian mounds and city.

The proposed center would serve the growing volume of tourists desiring information about the mounds area. It could be situated so that key sites would not be disturbed. And its construction and utilization undoubtedly would help spur future funding for acquisition of further mounds not yet saved from residential or commercial development.

Despite negative General Assembly action on the overall $4,100,000,000 construction-bonding program outlined by the governor, the state has sufficient remaining bonding power to help spur the Cahokia Mounds, Horseshoe Lake and Holt developments if appropriate legislation can be enacted.

Prompt and affirmative consideration would generate widespread commendation for state legislators' wisdom and foresight.

Variety features 1975 film festival

Variety, enough of it to spice almost any moviegoer's interest, is the key to this year's Film Festival at the Mississippi River Festival on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

"We have enough variety in our programming this season to please everybody," promises Jan Strout, assistant program director of the University Center Board and head of the Film Festival selection committee.

"We're highlighting American films, but beyond that there is tremendous variation."

She points out that the films range from a tribute to the cinematic genius of Orson Welles (June 30, to start the season) to a close look at the flair and perfection of Alfred Hitchcock (closing the season on Aug. 10).

The old and new west, World War I, silent classics, Hepburn and Tracy, Marilyn Monroe, and much more will be shown during the eight-week season.

The main factor involved in the healthy mix to this year's festival, she says, is "the excellent committee we had to pick the films. We had a great mix of people, interests and backgrounds, and that gave us a wide range of input into the selection process."

The committee, which included faculty, staff and students from SIUE, as well as expert help from outside the university, began its work late last year and did not finish until April.

"They were all volunteers, and they gave their time and energy to come to a number of meetings and to study and select the right films. All in addition to their regular work. They're really a great group."

Although this year's festival highlights America, even in this there is some variety.

On Aug. 4, 5 and 6, there is a Czech retrospective series said to include three of the finest films produced during the period of 1965-68 when Czechoslovakia experienced a brief flourishing under the more liberal government of now-deposed Alexander Dubcek.

"We did want to focus on America this year," the selection chairman says, "but we didn't want to leave the foreign films out altogether, either."

"These Czech films are not only outstanding on their own, but they are also not commonly shown and are representative of a very special time in Czechoslovakia."

In a pattern different from last year's Film Festival portion of the MRF, this year only five films will be shown at the River Festival site under the tent.

The others will be shown either in the comfortable environs of the Communications Building theater or in the Meridian Ballroom in the University Center.

The films shown at the site, she explains, are those "which are conducive to that type of outdoor showing, whose people can sit on the grass or under the tent and watch them with enjoyment. And they are only single features, so people won't have to sit for four or five hours to see everything."

In admitting that the environment in which the films were shown had been a criticism of last year's festival, she has promised that this year's program, showing most of the films in the theater or ballroom "took these valid criticisms into account. In this way, we have taken care of some of the technical problems we had last year."

In addition to the films themselves, some extras been readied for this summer's festival include program notes written for the showings, high members of the selection committee, and a special slide presentation prepared to precede particular shows.

Assigned to help the viewer further appreciate the artistry involved.

"In some cases," she says, "people haven't realized the connection between movies that we are trying to point out. The Last Picture Show and 'Red River' are closely interrelated, for instance. The program notes will help explain those kinds of relationships."

Considerably expanded from last summer's Film Festival portion of the MRF, this year's festival includes 12 film programs.

The expansion, which nearly doubles the previous summer's selection, helps explain the variety. But, the hard work of the selection committee also was a key.

"It was a great experience working with these people," she says. "It was one of the best job experiences I've ever had."

And, she hopes, the programs this summer will be the best viewing experience many moviegoers have had.

If variety is a good criterion, the hopes may be well founded. SIUE and MRF officials say.

This summer's Film Festival includes:

June 30 — Orson Welles in "A Touch of Evil" and "The Third Man" in Meridian Hall.

July 1 — Buster Keaton's silent classic, "The General" and Hepburn and Tracy in "Pat and Mike" in Meridian Hall.

July 2 — "Red River" and "The Last Picture Show" in Meridian Hall.

July 7 — "Some Like It Hot" at the MRF site.

July 14 — D. W. Griffith's "Intolerance" at the MRF site.

July 15 — "All Quiet on the Western Front" and Kubrick's "Paths of Glory" in the Communications Building theater.

July 20 — "The Adventures of Robin Hood" starring Errol Flynn, at the MRF site.

August 4 — "Loaves of a Bread" Czech film series, in the Communications Building theater.

August 5 — "Closely Watched Trains" Czech film series, in the Communications Building theater.

August 6 — "Capricious Summer" Czech film series, in the Communications Building theater.

August 10 — Hitchcock's "Strangers on a Train" and "Saboteur" at the MRF site.

Kilometer distance signs on Interstates

The Illinois Department of Transportation will seek bids for the first metric distance signing in the State on its regular June 10 bid letting.

Bids will be asked for a contract to place 24 metric distance signs along various Interstate routes in Illinois. The signs will also include mileage distances.

For instance, on Interstate 55, a sign will be placed indicating the distance to Chicago as 100 km (kilometers) and 62 miles. Another sign will be placed farther away indicating the distance to Chicago as 100 miles and 161 km.

Signs also will be placed for southbound traffic indicating the distance to St. Louis.

This new signing is an effort to familiarize motorists with the metric system. Illinois Department of Transportation officials said. The signs will be of safety break-away construction, and will be approximately four meters (13.5 feet) by two meters (6.5 feet).

The routes to be "signed" are Interstates 55, 57, 64, 70, 74 and 80.

Pending award of the contract, erection of the signs is expected to take place this summer.

By 1974, every major nation in the world except the United States had converted to metric or had scheduled conversion, a spokesman said. Many areas of U.S. society, including scientists, schools and manufacturers are using the metric system or considering converting to it.

The Illinois Department of Transportation is sponsoring a seminar, "The Metric Transition in Transportation," at Chicago June 4, 5 and 6. Attendance is expected from throughout the State, as well as from foreign countries.

Funds for streets, grade separations

Thirty million dollars has been granted this metropolitan area by the Federal Aid Urban System, it was announced Friday.

Allocated to the region under the Federal Aid Highway Act of 1973, the grants include $26 million for the Missouri portion of the St. Louis urbanized area and $4 million for the Illinois portion of the area.

The money is intended to allow jurisdictions to improve collector roads and arterials on the federal aid urban system. Funds can be used for highways and streets, bikeways, transit, pedestrian overpasses and railroad grade separations.

Available immediately, funds can be used for highways and streets, bikeways, transit, pedestrian overpasses and railroad grade separations. Must spend their own money and be repaid by the federal government.

The federal government pays up to 70 percent for all kinds of improvements except railroad grade separations; the latter may be paid completely by a federal program that runs through June 1975.

This is the first time cities have been eligible for federal funds for roads, other than for safety projects.

The East-West Gateway Coordinating Council earlier formed an ad hoc committee, including representatives of local governmental jurisdictions, revising the boundary for the St. Louis urbanized area and establishing the functional classification of the existing highway system, the highway system proposed by 1960 and the federal aid system for 1975.

The Illinois Department of Transportation is doing the same work for counties here. Communities want a further information on the program may contact Jack Kretzer at the Gateway Council, 421-4220, extension 58.

10 Granite Cityans on River Fest staff

Ten students at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville from the Granite City area will be working at this year's Mississippi River Festival, which is managed by SIUE.

Students who will be working during the course of the eight-week festival, June 30-Aug. 10, include:

Thomas Zarlingo, grounds security.
Connie Smith, Kathy Craner and Joe Stemmer, MRF tent crew.

Mike Magee, Larry Haddix, Gerrie Pinkerton, Judy May, Dennis West and Pat May, parking crew.

About 220 students will be working at this year's festival, handling a variety of jobs, such as stagehands, parking, festival tent crew, ticket collection, and stage and grounds security.

The large amount of student help makes the festival one of the top summer employers of students in the nation.

Most students receive $2.20 per hour for their efforts, and work about 20 hours a week.

Vicki Holt, concert manager for this summer's festival, comments, "This is the only festival in the country with this much student involvement. Most others depend on professional organizations for things like parking and security."

"We depend totally on the students from SIUE, and we've never had a problem."

Mrs. Holt added that the work is "a real educational experience for the students."

Loyle Ward, managing director of the festival, added that "the large number of events scheduled for this year's festival should make the student workers' jobs even more demanding than in past years."

"But we think they can handle it. We've found in the past that the personal touch our students give the public helps make the festival a highly enjoyable place to be."

This year's Mississippi River Festival will be highlighted by appearances by Bob Hope (July 25), Henry Mancini directing the St. Louis Symphony (July 25), America (Aug. 10), Mac Davis (Aug. 10), Linda Ronstadt (July 30) and many top rock, folk and jazz music groups.

The St. Louis Symphony Orchestra will be appearing for six concerts, as well as a chamber music group. Composed of members of the St. Louis Symphony and SIUE faculty members, the chamber group will present a series of concertos.

Other fine arts events scheduled include the Eric Hawkins Dance Company (Aug. 8 and 9), a Czech retrospective film series (Aug. 4, 5 and 6), a tribute to Orson Welles with two of his greatest pictures, "A Touch of Evil" and "The Third Man" (June 30), and an arts and crafts exhibition slated for Aug. 15.

The festival site is located on 18 rolling acres that create a natural amphitheater on the university grounds.

A large, open-sided tent provides covered seating for 1,877 people. Open-air lawns seating with a clear view of the stage is available for thousands more. Some crowds have topped 30,000.

Shameful behavior toward refugee immediately after his arrival here

To the Editor:
This letter comes as a response to your news report on Mr. Tran Van Tuyen, the Vietnamese refugee immigrant to our area.

It saddens me to think that there are such people as these ladies who, evidently, resent this gentleman's attempt to earn a livelihood in his new country.

It troubles me even more to think that Mr. Tuyen would be a victim of such shameful behavior so soon after his arrival in the Quad-Cities.

Maybe I am a little naive, but I fail to see how training and employing this man as an electrician will weaken our national security, as these ladies seem to believe.

The tunnel vision that these ladies possess should shock us all. But, unfortunately, there are a few such people trying their best to give all us "real" humans a figurative black eye.

I'd be willing to bet that Mr. Tuyen has been exposed to a much more threatening life in his native country than any of our local neo-fascists.

I am also dismayed at the construction company for bowing to the pressure of these women.

Such a spineless move only gives this new American a further stilled look at our society.

I have faith that these ladies do not represent the views of a majority — or any sizable minority, for that matter — of Quad-Cityans.

In closing, I'd like to ask those women where many of our ancestors would have been being aware that many of them also refuse immigrants to America — if they were not given the opportunity to prove themselves.

I sincerely hope that someone will give this man a chance to prove himself — and themselves — as truly American human beings.

Good luck, Mr. Tuyen.

Says many public halls are available

To the Editor:
In response to the Forum carrier of "Belgian pianists being handicapped," May 29, you are to be lauded for the assistance you have given band employment this summer.

I must, however, take exception to your apparent indignation at having to pay a rental for a private student's recital program and at the choice of instruments put at your disposal.

There are other public halls available. Instruments are available.

Having been a private music instructor for many more years than you noted, I have rented other halls, rented and paid for the tuning of piano organs and the carriage fees on them.

It would seem that the letter writer considers herself a civic asset, other than a teacher who receives a fee for each lesson.

Although a recital is important to give students an opportunity to perform in public and gain confidence from this experience, it is also a medium of advertising for the teacher — for what better advertisement than to hear the results of the teacher's work through the performance of his or her students?

As for accompanying "South Pacific," if there wasn't a hall available, I believe the Musicians Union should have supplied the accompanist.
